

release of goods notification (MR, ErledigungsmeldungNCTSDE)

The “release of goods notification” is a notification to the participant in the standard procedure and the authorized consignor that the goods have been released for shipment. The participant in the normal procedure or the authorized consignor or their decentralized communication partner receives the message after the goods have been released for the transit procedure.

Remarks:
The amount of content of the message depends on whether the transit has been released automatic or manual.

The content of this message comes directly or indirectly from the "transit declaration", but data may have been subsequently modified by a customs user. Data elements (e.g. closures) may have been deleted as a result of manual processing of a shipping process. Consequently, these data elements (which were sent by the participant with the “transit declaration”) no longer appear in the “release of goods notification”. This must be taken into account when incorporating the data.

All information in this document is purely informative and does not constitute instructions or templates for submitting customs declarations.
