

external booking (XB)

Guarantee management is integrated in ZODIAK. This means that an account can be assigned to a previously created guarantee account for each transit declaration. When the registered shipping process is transferred, the account is debited and on arrival at the customs office of destination, the credit is automatically carried out on the basis of an ATLAS message.

For those ZODIAK participants who use foreign customs application systems and would like to operate the guarantee management centrally within ZODIAK, there is now the so-called external booking (XB) in the form of this interface. With an XB transaction, shipping and arrival notifications that have taken place outside of ZODIAK can therefore be combined in the ZODIAK internal guarantee management for accounting purposes. They depict the event that triggers the account assignment step when the vehicle is handed over (debiting the security) or completed arrival (releasing the security).

The mixing of the incoming data with a master copy is not intended for this.
